

You are invited to an afternoon of toe-tappin' bluegrass music by the . . .

Annie Lou is Anne Louise Genest – a Canadian artist who carries the spirit of an old storyteller, creating songs steeped in oldtime mountain, Appalachian, & traditional country & bluegrass music. She writes songs that have a way of breaking the heart and then putting it back together again. Beautifully creative songs and tunes range from rousing & boisterous to gentle & poignant, and map a homescape of hard-drinking grandmas, rural dancehalls, blue collar fashions, small towns, big cities. All of this is delivered with Annie Lou's vocal warmth, evocative of the sweet tones of Kate & Anna McGarrigle blended with the raw emotion of Hazel Dickens.

Anne Louise Genest – guitar, banjo, vocals
 Sarah Hamilton - fiddle, guitar, vocals
 Andrew Collins – mandolin, fiddle, guitar, vocals
 Max Heineman – upright bass, vocals

3pm, Sun 9th November 2014

Humph Hall

85 Allambie Road, Allambie Heights

Formerly the Allambie Heights Uniting Church, Humph Hall is now the private home of Gial and Wayne.
 Bookings: 9939 8802 wayne@humphhall.org - humphhall.org

You are invited to an afternoon of toe-tappin' bluegrass music by the . . .

Annie Lou is Anne Louise Genest – a Canadian artist who carries the spirit of an old storyteller, creating songs steeped in oldtime mountain, Appalachian, & traditional country & bluegrass music. She writes songs that have a way of breaking the heart and then putting it back together again. Beautifully creative songs and tunes range from rousing & boisterous to gentle & poignant, and map a homescape of hard-drinking grandmas, rural dancehalls, blue collar fashions, small towns, big cities. All of this is delivered with Annie Lou's vocal warmth, evocative of the sweet tones of Kate & Anna McGarrigle blended with the raw emotion of Hazel Dickens.

Anne Louise Genest – guitar, banjo, vocals
 Sarah Hamilton - fiddle, guitar, vocals
 Andrew Collins – mandolin, fiddle, guitar, vocals
 Max Heineman – upright bass, vocals

3pm, Sun 9th November 2014

Humph Hall

85 Allambie Road, Allambie Heights

Formerly the Allambie Heights Uniting Church, Humph Hall is now the private home of Gial and Wayne.
 Bookings: 9939 8802 wayne@humphhall.org - humphhall.org

You are invited to an afternoon of toe-tappin' bluegrass music by the . . .

Annie Lou is Anne Louise Genest – a Canadian artist who carries the spirit of an old storyteller, creating songs steeped in oldtime mountain, Appalachian, & traditional country & bluegrass music. She writes songs that have a way of breaking the heart and then putting it back together again. Beautifully creative songs and tunes range from rousing & boisterous to gentle & poignant, and map a homescape of hard-drinking grandmas, rural dancehalls, blue collar fashions, small towns, big cities. All of this is delivered with Annie Lou's vocal warmth, evocative of the sweet tones of Kate & Anna McGarrigle blended with the raw emotion of Hazel Dickens.

Anne Louise Genest – guitar, banjo, vocals
 Sarah Hamilton - fiddle, guitar, vocals
 Andrew Collins – mandolin, fiddle, guitar, vocals
 Max Heineman – upright bass, vocals

3pm, Sun 9th November 2014

Humph Hall

85 Allambie Road, Allambie Heights

Formerly the Allambie Heights Uniting Church, Humph Hall is now the private home of Gial and Wayne.
 Bookings: 9939 8802 wayne@humphhall.org - humphhall.org