

Presenting the incredibly talented & funny country/bluegrass performer . . .

Pete Denahy

In 2007, Pete Denahy released a song called "Sort Of Dunno Nothin'" which went viral on YouTube and radio stations around Australia. His comedy material includes such songs as The Petrol Head Fly, The Shopping Trolley, Bat In The Cave, The Target Song, Toilet Paper, Poker Machine and You Actually Burn More Calories Eating Celery Than You Get From The Celery Itself.

Pete's love of bluegrass music has taken him to Japan and the US, making friends and picking tunes & songs with some of the best. His main instruments are guitar & fiddle, although he also plays mandolin & some banjo. He loves touring Australia with his own show of comedy (family friendly) & bluegrass music. In 2020 he will be fronting the Slim Dusty Band on their tour around Australia.

3pm, Sunday 2nd February, 2020

Humph Hall

85 Allambie Road, Allambie Heights

Formerly the Allambie Heights Uniting Church, Humph Hall is now the private home of Gial and Wayne. Bookings: 9939 8802 wayne@humphhall.org - humphhall.org